

Black Healthcare Summit

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 2020 | 9:30 A.M. – 11:00 A.M. | via ZOOM

When it comes to race-based research and data, the healthcare sector is severely lacking. The result? Persistent, systemic disparities that are putting the lives, health and well-being of Black Canadians at risk.

Join leading Toronto health experts and advocates on October 6 for an in-depth panel discussion about why research focused on the unique needs of Black women and their health is vitally important, and to learn how Women's College Hospital is leading the way when it comes to closing gaps in healthcare for the Black community.

MEET THE PANELISTS

Dr. Husam Abdel-Qadir

Scientist, Women's College Research Institute
Director, Black Physicians' Association of Ontario

Elaine Goulbourne

Administrative Director, Peter Gilgan Centre for Women's Cancers & Director, Clinical Resources,
Women's College Hospital

Dr. Marissa Joseph

Medical Director, Dermatology,
Women's College Hospital

Dr. Aisha Lofters

Chair, Implementation Science, Peter Gilgan Centre for Women's Cancers, Women's College Hospital
Associate Professor, University of Toronto

Lydia-Joi Marshall

Vice-President, Black Health Alliance
Research Associate, University Health Network

Dr. Onye Nnorom

President, Black Physicians' Association of Ontario
Associate Program Director, University of Toronto

Dr. Meb Rashid

Medical Director, Crossroads Clinic,
Women's College Hospital

MODERATED
BY:

Jennifer Bernard, CFRE

President & CEO
Women's College Hospital Foundation

TO REGISTER, VISIT:
wchf.convio.net/BlackHealthcareSummit

If you experience any issues while registering, please contact Paul Bauman, Senior Development Officer, WCHF at paul.bauman@wchospital.ca or 416-323-6323 ext. 4711